

Dr. Marco Sironi is Sector Head for European Commission, JRC ISPRA, from 2000 to present. His main responsibilities are to lead actions in the area of sealing, tracing & tracking technologies for nuclear applications, for applications related with traceability in the supply chain and in weapons and explosives trade; to lead the scientific staff, planning activities and monitoring achievements and scientific output; and to plan and co-ordinate experimental work and training. Since 2004 he is an EC delegate to the United Nations for negotiations on disarmament in the frame of the Small Arms and Light Weapons Initiative.